JAMESON GIBSON CONSTRUCTION RECOGNIZED FOR THEIR OUTSTANDING SAFETY AND HEALTH PROGRAM

NASHVILLE – Tennessee Department of Labor & Workforce Development Commissioner Michael E. Magill recently announced that Jameson Gibson Construction in Memphis was awarded the Governor's Award of Excellence for Workplace Safety and Health.

Jameson Gibson Construction was presented the award by Magill at the 24th annual Tennessee Safety and Health Congress held at the Opryland Hotel in Nashville in July.

"Jameson Gibson Construction has proven their commitment to maintaining a safe and healthy workplace," said Magill. "Achieving the Governor's Award is a huge accomplishment because the evaluation criteria for the award are extremely challenging, but Jameson Gibson has worked hard to meet and exceed those required standards."

The Governor's Award of Excellence for Workplace Safety and Health is given to Tennessee employers who meet the required number of hours during a calendar year without workplace injuries serious enough to cause an employee to miss a day of work or restrict his normal job activities. The number of hours required is based on the size of the company.

Jameson Gibson Construction has had no lost-time work injuries since July 1999. The TOSHA Division of the Tennessee Department of Labor & Workforce Development has provided consultative services to the employer to insure their compliance with safety and health responsibilities.

Jameson Gibson Construction, which was founded in 1976 by Chris Jameson and Gene Gibson, has an extensive background in all types of commercial and industrial construction. The company has 300 employees. Jameson Gibson's sister company, Standard Maintenance, also received the Governor's Award.
